APERTURE ANNOUNCES PARTNERSHIP WITH ENVIRONMENTAL SYSTEMS DESIGN (ESD)

Posted on: 19/06/2007

US-based Data Centre management software company Aperture Technologies has announced a partnership with engineering and consulting specialist Environmental Systems Design (ESD) who provides advice on building and Data Centre design. Under the agreement ESD will apply the engineering data included in Aperture's VISTA symbol repository to assist in its consulting projects. This will be included in ESD's operational plans and processes that are being developed for its Data Centre clients including architects, building developers, facilities managers and property managers.
