

Aperture Technologies becomes business division of Emerson Network Power

Aperture has announced the completion of its acquisition by Emerson. This follows shareholder approval of the acquisition proposal first announced in February.

Emerson has now completed its acquisition of 100 per cent of Aperture's share capital. Detailed financial terms of the agreement will not be disclosed.

Bill Clifford, CEO of Aperture and the newly appointed president of the Aperture division of Emerson, said, 'I am excited about the completion of this acquisition, which has gone very smoothly and has had such positive support from our customers, partners and employees. With the strength of Emerson behind us, Aperture's Vista product line will continue to be the market leading software solution for complex data centre management.'
